Note:

- Contact the college advisement center for help in outlining an efficient schedule. This sequence is based on the minimum number of credits possible. Students are encouraged to complete an average of at least 15 credit hours each semester or 30 credit hours each year, which could include spring and/or summer terms. Taking fewer credits substantially increases the cost and the number of semesters to graduate.
Licensure: This program meets the educational requirements designed to lead to an occupationally required professional license or certificate in the state of Utah. Students pursuing occupations requiring a license or certificate in a state other than Utah should contact the appropriate BYU academic advisement center as well as the licensing agency in the state where they intend to work to seek information and guidance regarding licensure and certification requirements.

This major is designed to prepare students to teach in public schools. In order to graduate with this major, students are required to complete Utah State Office of Education licensing requirements. For questions about these requirements, contact the Education Advisement Center, 350 MCKB, 801-422-3426.

For students accepted into the major after December 16, 2019, grades below C in any required coursework in a teaching major or teaching minor will not be accepted. Teacher candidates must maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.7 or higher once admitted into the program and to qualify for student teaching. For additional details on admission and retention requirements for teaching majors and teaching minors, see Educator Preparation Program Requirements in the Undergraduate Catalog.

Students are strongly encouraged to take a freshman college-level writing course (WRTG 150), regardless of their AP test scores. ENGL 276R is prerequisite to ENGL 329, 371, 378, 379, 423, and 426. All are prerequisite to ENGL 476R or ENGL 496R.

THE DISCIPLINE:

The English major provides a detailed knowledge of the English language and literature written in English. English majors approach language and literature as a source of knowledge and aesthetic pleasure, a mode of encountering and evaluating diverse minds and attitudes, a vehicle for art and action, a means of historical understanding, and a source of spiritual insight. English majors use writing as their primary means (1) of knowing, understanding, and evaluating their experience and their reading and (2) of sharing their insight with others. In keeping with the longstanding ideals of a liberal arts education, the English Department aims to cultivate in its students those foundational skills in writing, awareness, and judgment upon which lives of wisdom, service, and an ever-increasing love for learning might be built.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES:

Majors in English teaching cultivate skills in literary analysis and writing as well as pedagogical skills that prepare them for teaching positions in English/language arts at both the middle and high school level. When combined with classroom teaching experience, graduates of this program are positioned to work as curriculum specialists and teacher coaches at the school or district level. Many also pursue advanced degrees that allow them to teach concurrent enrollment courses as well as work in higher education, k-12 administration or library science. Beyond traditional teaching careers, graduates from this program develop skills that they can apply in education technology, distance learning, corporate training, and editing.

MAP DISCLAIMER

While every reasonable effort is made to ensure accuracy, there are some student populations that could have exceptions to listed requirements. Please refer to the university catalog and your college advisement center/department for complete guidelines.
